

Projects WET & WILD!

An exploration of project books and their activities

Are you looking for good, fun, science activities to help explain themes and concepts? A Project WET and Project WILD training is going to be held to do just that for you. Both books are filled with activities and ideas to get your students up out of their seats and outside for hands on learning about science and other core subjects. Purchase prices for the WET and WILD books will be covered by Missouri Department of Conservation.
